DEALMAKERS

Sklar Kirsh helps with HHS Construction's sale

M&A

HHS Construction Inc., comprising HHS Construction LLC and HHS Communications LLC, sold to Congruex LLC, a provider of design, engineering, construction, construction management and maintenance services. The deal, announced on Aug. 1, was released without financial terms.

Sklar Kirsh LLP advised HHS Construction and HHS Communications.

HHS Construction is a full service contractor of major telecommunications providers throughout California. HHS Communications offers services for telecommunications infrastructure construction.

Sklar Kirsh's team was led by partner Scott R. Ehrlich (pictured), senior counsel Sara C. Butcher and associate Jeffery P. Richbourg, all of Los Angeles.

Congruex was advised by Berg Hill Greenleaf Ruscitti LLP. Founding partner Giovanni M. Ruscitti led the Berg Hill team from Boulder, Colorado with partner Jared Z. Crain and associate Kathleen M. Lucas.

This deal is Congruex's sixth acquisition since establishing a partnership with Crestview Partners LLC, a private equity firm that specializes in telecommunications and business services. Congruex's most recent buy was of Veterans Underground LLC and Terra Technologies Inc. earlier this year.

"The addition of HHS Construction further strengthens our turn-key capabilities in this economically important region and expands our relationships with numerous broadband service providers," Bill Beans, Congruex's CEO, said in a statement.

Intrepid Investment Bankers LLC were the financial advisors to the sellers.
